Lesson 10 Summary

Demonstrative adjectives are words like this, that, these, those used to point out specific things. In Spanish, they must match the gender (masculine/feminine) and number (singular/plural) of the noun.

The basic word order is similar to English:

demonstrative + noun

Example: esta casa = this house

---

"This" and "These"

|       | Masculine    | Feminine     |
|-------|--------------|--------------|
| this  | este  | esta  |
| these | estos | estas |

Examples:

este libro — this book

estos zapatos — these shoes

esta casa — this house

estas llaves — these keys

"That" and "Those" (Closer Distance)

|       | Masculine   | Feminine    |
|-------|-------------|-------------|
| that  | ese  | esa  |
| those | esos | esas |

Examples:

ese carro — that car

esos perros — those dogs

esa silla — that chair

esas camisas — those shirts

"That" and "Those" (Farther Distance / Over There)

|                    | Masculine       | Feminine        |
|--------------------|-----------------|-----------------|
| that (over there)  | aquel    | aquella  |
| those (over there) | aquellos | aquellas |

Examples:

aquel edificio — that building (over there)

aquella montaña — that mountain (over there)

aquellos niños — those kids (over there)

aquellas flores — those flowers (over there)

Note: In daily speech, many native speakers simply use ese/esa even for distant things. Aquel/aquella is mainly used when you want to emphasize distance.

Neuter Forms for Concepts or Unknown Objects

|             | Neuter      |
|-------------|-------------|
| this (idea) | esto |
| that (idea) | eso  |

Use these when referring to something vague, general, or not identified yet.

Examples:

¿Qué es esto? — What is this?

Quiero hablar de eso. — I want to talk about that.

¿Cómo se dice esto? — How do you say this?

Important:

There is a neuter form aquello, but it's rarely used and not necessary to focus on for now.

Using Demonstratives Without Nouns ("This one," "That one")

You can drop the noun if it's clear from context.

Examples:

¿Quieres este libro? — Do you want this book?

No, no quiero ese. — No, I don't want that one.

Prefiero esta. — I prefer this one.

Talking About Time

Demonstratives can also refer to time periods:

En ese entonces = at that time

En aquel entonces = back then (more distant)

Examples:

En ese entonces, Juan trabajaba con su padre. — At that time, Juan was working with his father.

En aquel entonces, las cosas eran muy diferentes. — Back then, things were very different.

Quick Reference Chart

|                         | Masculine | Feminine    | Neuter           |
|-------------------------|------------------|--------------------|-------------------------|
| This / These            | este / estos     | esta / estas       | esto                    |
| That / Those (near-ish) | ese / esos       | esa / esas         | eso                     |
| That / Those (far away) | aquel / aquellos | aquella / aquellas | (aquello - rarely used) |

Practice Tip

Throughout your day, pick random objects or situations and practice:

Esta taza de café — This cup of coffee

Esa mesa — That table

Aquel edificio — That building (over there)

¿Qué es esto? — What is this?

No quiero esa. — I don't want that one.

The more you use them naturally, the faster they'll stick.
